

Good News

The mission of Cactus Christian Fellowship is to Evangelize, Equip, and Serve one another in love.

Pastor's Corner

As I study from the section of Acts that tells of Paul's missionary journeys, I again think of the difficult choices missionaries make. So, I gave some thought to what a missionary is:

We all have that idea of what a missionary should look like. But have you ever stopped to think of what a missionary is? Take a moment and think of how you would define a missionary in your own words - What would it be? Your definition could be like these definitions that I have read before: "A missionary is someone who crosses cultural barriers in order to share the gospel and make disciples." Or "A missionary is a person who leaves everything behind and goes overseas to serve the Lord in a foreign cultural context and share His love with others."

I recently read that today we have more missionaries sent to the United States than we send out. Whatever the case, Cactus Christian Fellowship does a wonderful job of supporting many missionary endeavors. Our own Ernie Johnson leads the committee on missions here and they have chosen a cross section of both missions here in Phoenix and the area around, as well as in other countries. I know Ernie would be honored if you asked him about the missions we help support.

"A missionary is a disciple-maker who has to cross multiple cultural barriers in order to make the gospel known to a person who does not know Jesus."

In preparation for this Sunday's message, read Acts 14:1-20.
